

Milton Ulladulla Dog Training Club

Extreme Weather Policy

The Club will not conduct, or continue to conduct, official training sessions when the ambient temperature exceeds 35 deg C as measured in the shade of areas used for training on hot days.

Instructors will also use their judgement as to whether or not extreme humidity may cause excessive heat load on handlers and/or dogs, and may choose to abandon or modify training as deemed appropriate, at their discretion.

Individual handlers are also encouraged to consider their particular circumstances (handler/dog team). The handler should always feel free to withdraw from training if she/he is concerned about the effect of the prevailing conditions on their team.

Training will not be conducted during lightning storms.
